

Top 10 things to look for in a Wedding Planner

- Communication Style

You are going to spend months (sometimes years) talking to this person. Make sure their communication style matches yours. Fast responses mean nothing if the communication itself feels stressful, confusing, or cold.

- Experience With Your Type of Wedding

A planner who crushes ballroom weddings may not necessarily be the best fit for a tented waterfront wedding. Ask about weddings similar to yours in style, size, logistics, and budget.

- Budget Transparency

A good planner should help you understand where your money is actually going and guide priorities realistically, not just tell you everything is “doable.”

- Vendor Relationships

Strong planner/vendor relationships matter more than people realize. Great planners know who is reliable, who works well together, and how to build a team that fits your vision and personality.

- Organization Systems

Ask how they manage timelines, checklists, contracts, layouts, guest counts, and communication. A beautiful Instagram feed does not automatically equal a well-run wedding day.

- Their Actual Role on Wedding Day

Some planners are deeply hands-on all weekend. Others mainly oversee vendors. Make sure you understand exactly what support looks like on the wedding day itself.

- Personality Fit

This one is huge. Your planner will be with you during emotional, stressful, exciting, and vulnerable moments. You should genuinely enjoy being around them.

- Problem-Solving Ability

Ask for examples of things that went wrong at weddings and how they handled them. Weddings always have unexpected moments. The best planners stay calm and solution-oriented.

- Team Structure

Will you work directly with the owner? An associate planner? Multiple people? Make sure you know who your main point of contact will actually be throughout the process.

- Reviews Beyond Pretty Photos

Look beyond styled shoots and Instagram. Read reviews carefully and pay attention to comments about responsiveness, calmness under pressure, organization, and overall experience. Those are usually the things couples remember most.
